Atlanta, November 00, 2009 – Alex Wan, a businessman and civic leader who is seeking the Atlanta City Council District 6 seat (to be decided in a December 1 election), has been endorsed by Steve Brodie, against whom he competed in the general election.

"I wholeheartedly support Alex, and appreciate the strong, inclusive campaign he is running," says Brodie, a Midtown businessman who has been an integral part of neighborhood activities in Midtown, including serving as a board member on NPU-E and the Midtown Neighbors' Association. "I especially appreciate his knowledge of the district and the plans he has for balancing responsible development with the unique character of District 6 neighborhoods. For instance, his balanced approach to the proposed Beltline."

Brodie, a Vietnam-era veteran who has over 20 years of financial consulting experience, says he encourages his supporters to actively support Wan.

"I am honored to have Steve's endorsement," Wan says. "He has been and continues to be a strong voice for our community. Too, Steve shares my care and concern for our friends and neighbors in District 6 and for the issues facing them. In particular, we are closely aligned on issues like the need to redouble efforts on public safety, plans to ensure tax dollars are spent wisely and effectively, and more."

Wan also has been endorsed by:

- The Buckhead Coalition
- Georgia Equality
- Southern Voice newspaper
- The Victory Fund

Additionally, he is the only candidate in District 6 to receive the highest rating of "Excellent" from the Committee for a Better Atlanta (CBA).

"I am proud that these endorsements, along with the recognition of the CBA, demonstrates the breadth of this campaign's support," Wan says. "To receive support – financial and otherwise – from such a diverse collection of groups is encouraging."
